

Jeff Dickinson graduated from Papillion/LaVista High School in 1992. Since then, I've attended MCC, UNO, and Oklahoma State University. I began working in the construction industry in 1992 as a laborer on a directional bore crew and have held numerous positions from Aerial Lineman to Bore Crew Supervisor. I was a Supervisor for Cox Communications until 2020 when I accepted a position with TJ Cable and Underground Services. I've seen a large shift in customer expectations over the past decade.

Contractors are expected to be much more technical and much more digitally capable than ever before. I would like to be considered for this role because I believe I can help foster this transition, and encourage local contractors to become more digitally educated and technically capable.
